Chantal Paré

The word for Chantal Paré is "prolific." She has created a multitude of patterns. It's like the designs are gushing out of her.

Chantal is the author of Orchids in Glass. You can see photos of the projects in the book at the Delphi Glass and Glass Crafters websites. She has been featured in Glass Patterns Quarterly magazine.

But where you see the real abundance of patterns is on her websites. Yes, websiteS (with a capital S). She filled up one, then started another, and another, and another....

Meeting News

The March meeting is to be held on Tuesday the 20th. Prior to the general meeting, board members and Guild Officers will hold a business meeting at 6:15 p.m.

This is a working meeting to complete your snowflake or work on another project. If you've finished, bring your ladybug and snowflake to show everyone. We're also having a pattern exchange, so bring several for sharing.

Welcome to our new member, Joyce Baker. And it's good to see Lucille Hahn and Betty Williamson again. We all need to invite a prospective member, whether new or returning. We need to build our Guild this year.

We will be working with our Morton Systems more this year, including making a lamp.

This month's host is Rose Anne Frey. All are welcome to bring treats.
